

AMERICA "BURSTS BUTTONS" TO SHOW GEN'L MacARTHUR RIP-ROARING WELCOME WORTHY OF HERO'S HOMECOMING; SERIES OF OFFICIAL WELCOMES STRETCH ACROSS U. S.

Welcome To Commence Tonight As The General Reaches West Coast

THEN TO THE CAPITAL

Television To Provide Gallery Seat for Countless Americans

By John DeLorenzi

(U. S. Staff Writer)

America is bursting its buttons to show Gen. Douglas MacArthur a rip-roaring welcome worthy of a hero's homecoming.

From San Francisco's Golden Gate to the Narrows of New York Bay a series of official welcomes, parades, and booming salutes are being prepared on an unprecedented scale.

Things get off to a roaring welcome when the 71-year-old general lands tonight at San Francisco through whose harbor he last sailed in the spring of 1937, Manila-bound with his bride.

To the thunder of a five star General's 17-gun salute MacArthur will again set foot on the soil of continental U. S. But ceremonies at the International Airport will be held to a minimum and the General and his party will motor to their hotel with a heavy police escort running interference through a mass of reporters, photographers, newsreel, radio and TV men.

Wednesday morning will really be MacArthur Day for San Francisco with the opening of the city's formal ceremonies at 12:45 p. m. (EST). Accompanied by Gov. Earl Warren, MacArthur will receive a cheering, ticker-tape welcome from an expected million Californians as he rides through the city to formal ceremonies at City Hall.

But the MacArthurs will not be able to tarry to enjoy the warm western hospitality. They will go directly from the City Hall reception to the warmed-up and waiting "Bataan" which will speed them on to the nation's capital.

The non-stop ten to ten-and-one-half-hour flight across the nation is expected to have them in their beds at Washington's Statler Hotel late Wednesday night.

But despite the late hour the for-

BUYING ITS OWN STUFF

Because U. S. war production was recklessly prodigal it was bound to be wasteful. Disposal of surplus equipment, considered not worth salvaging from the point of view of sound economics, creates opportunities for private profit. That's how it was after World War I, and that's how it was after World War II.

But when surplus goods are sold back to the United States government at great profit to the entrepreneur and great cost to the government, the public can only wonder what goes on.

Granting that the federal establishment is an enormous, sprawling, ineffective, expensive organization, whose methods no private business would tolerate, it ought to be possible to achieve coordination to prevent absolute waste of public funds, which come out of the citizen's pocket.

The Philippine truck deal is a prime case in point. In 1947 an American dealer heard that the Philippine government was offering surplus United States Army trucks for sale. A representative sent out there bought them for from $200 to $250 each. Transported to the United States and repaired, 358 trucks were sold to the Atomic Energy Commission's Hanford (Wash.) plant, some for $3,500, some for $3,900.

In all, 872 trucks left in the Philippines as surplus were sold at a $425,000 profit on a $700,000 investment—and this despite lavish fees and commissions. A man named Freeman, who was indicted with the Garson brothers and former Representative May in 1947 on charges of conspiring to defraud the government on war contracts, but who was acquitted, demanded $100,000 for steering the dealers to the "right people" in the Philippines, a claim which his estate compromised for $42,000.

A fee of $98,000 was paid to lawyers, who undertook to negotiate with the Department of Commerce for amendment of regulations that barred sale of the trucks in the United States. Commission of $125,000 was paid for information that led to the $1,200,000 sale of trucks to the AEC.

That is one case. There were others, such as the sale of surplus equipment to the Army's tank arsenal at Detroit. If all this was legal, it was stupid and expensive on the part of government agencies.

Pleas for higher taxes for defense, against a background of such extravagance and incompetence, have a hollow sound.

There are 13,000,000 dogs in the United States, one to every 27 families. And every one of them buries his bones in the flower beds of the non-owning families.

There is a demand for return of the gold standard. Has a searching party been sent out to find it?

Radar is the science which discovers hidden objects from the echoes which bounce back. Probably the idea was gained from rubber checks.

M'Arthur and Peace

sible to understand what kind of peace would be acceptable. What she is after is not hard to state.

Red China is after two things, and the slaughter and destruction in Korea are merely her way of letting everyone know she wants them.

First, Red China wants recognition by the United Nations as at least the "de facto" government of China; she wants a seat in the United Nations organization, which would automatically deprive the Chinese Nationalists of their status as members.

Second, Red China wants the island of Formosa, now occupied by the remnants of the Chinese Nationalist Army—upwards of 800,000. Surrender of Formosa to Red China would, incidentally, mean the liquidation of the Nationalist Army, and the wiping out of the only substantial resistance remaining to the Chinese Communists.

What is the American policy in regard to these two matters? As nearly as it can be defined (for "policy" is not the word properly to use for a record of muddling and opportunism), our policy is to give lip service to the Chinese Nationalists, but withhold from them anything which might make their resistance to the Chinese Communists effective.

Specifically, we have refused even to consider letting Red China join the United Nations until the Chinese troops have been recalled from Korea. On the other hand, our government has consistently sidestepped any firm commitment on behalf of the Nationalists, and in fact, sent General Marshall there some years back to demand that the Nationalists accept a suicidal "partnership" with the Communists.

As for Formosa, Uncle Sam already has conceded that this island belongs to China. It is just a question which government governs China. If we recognize the Red Government, then the Nationalist Army automatically becomes a mob of rebels without standing. On the other hand, the only way by which the Nationalists can ever be certain of holding Formosa would be by reconquering China.

In this situation, the British policy favors giving the Chinese Communists precisely what they want. Arguing whether this represents "appeasement" is ridiculous. Of course it is. It is outright surrender of principles and a violation of promises for the purpose of helping business.

But arguing whether there is any real and substantial difference between the British position and that of our Red-infested State Department is quite something else again.

Any apparent difference is shadowy and elusive. General MacArthur's main sin was bringing this out by the dramatic suggestion that we ought to encourage the Chinese Nationalists to return to the mainland.

Unless we are to recognize the Chinese Communists in the end, and face the fact that all our loss of men and materials in Korea has been a meaningless gesture, then how else can the situation be rectified except by supporting the Nationalists?—as indeed we have been promising to do ever since before the Second World War began.

General MacArthur has been the principal stumbling block in the path of an outrageous piece of appeasement in which the British have openly admitted the course they wished to follow, and have protested only at being branded with the name of appeasers; but into which our State Department (and President) have been trying to sneak into through the back door.

Meanwhile, we have a bear by the tail in Korea. We can't stop where we are, except by surrendering to the Chinese demands. We can't get anywhere by continuing the fight, unless we do what General MacArthur recommended, and help the Nationalists.

And meanwhile the shooting and the dying continue.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA...

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Bristol Township

Mrs. Johnson's second grade class has just completed a unit on American birds. Each child made a book, coloring pictures and writing paragraphs about the more popular ones.

With the arrival of spring, the fourth grade afternoon class of Croydon school has been making a study of wild flowers. Many specimens have been brought in and the children enjoy sharing them with each other.

Miss Maxwell, The Story Lady, visited the Croydon School on Thursday and Friday, April 5 and 6. The children of both primary and upper grades thoroughly enjoyed her stories and the realistic way she has of telling them. Some of the boys and girls have already written her an invitation to come back again.

The girls and boys softball and baseball teams are working very hard to make their team a good one. They have been most successful in the two games they have already played, having defeated the Laurel Bend and Maple Shade teams. They hope to win a large number, if not all of their games this season.

MAPLE SHADE

Elaine Groom, a first grader, celebrated her seventh birthday at school on Wednesday. She surprised the children with ice cream and cookies. They enjoyed every moment of the celebration.

Last week twin lambs were born at Justine Loller's farm, Walnut Grove. She named one Justine and the other Wayne. The first grade children will visit the farm to see the lambs soon.

First grade boys and girls have had a most interesting unit on Cowboys. They have heard many stories about them, and have written stories about Dick and Jane visiting the ranch. They drew brand marks and have enjoyed singing songs about "Cowboy Joe". They have discovered that cowboys do more than shoot outlaws.

Carole Thomas, first grade, has undergone an appendectomy at Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia. We all miss her and wish her a speedy recovery.

Monday, with the lure of spring outside windows, pupils ventured forth to discover some real evidence of spring. Violets, dandelions, and saxifrage were among other typical signs of spring found.

The art activity in this spring season thus far has been the making of botany frames and shadow frames. This was done by using the bottom of a gift box—the picture was then placed in the box. The cutting and tearing techniques gave the first experience in elementary paper sculpturing. Then fasteners and string were put on the pictures for hanging purposes.

With wood as a medium, pupils sawed, hammered, and drilled with a great amount of success to make sailable sail boats. This was an activity from a conversation and story in reading stories. Reports from the ship builders are "they really float."

underwent a tonsillectomy on Wednesday.

John Hinkle, of fourth grade, who left this school a short time ago, has returned from Croydon school.

The name of Carol Kline was unintentionally omitted from the list of new pupils who have recently entered Maple Shade school. Carol and her twin brother, Carl, went there from Croydon School.

Pupils also welcomed were James Stittler as another new first grade pupil from Philadelphia schools.

The boys and girls of grades five and six are extremely proud of the display of dolls which they have placed in the Trophy Cabinet in the main hall for the pupils and visitors to see.

Deanna Carson, of sixth grade, is in charge of the display and she has succeeded in getting dolls of Italy, Holland, Indian, Pennsylvania, Dutch, Irish, American Colonial, Bridal Party (bride-groom, bridesmaid, and flower girl), Swedish, Scotch, Quaker, "Miss America", Spanish, Mexican and Austrian. A total of thirty-five very beautiful dolls.

Edward Kraft of third grade has added a toy lamb which he received recently from Sweden, and which "baas" when pressed. Another toy scottie dog, taken in by Mary Ann Dwyer, "walks when wound". Both of these toys have been added to the doll collection—possibly as "mascots".

Since the doll display was arranged by the girls, the boys have suggested the next one to be of guns.

Ned Ebert, who first suggested it, will be in charge and will be happy to receive any toy guns taken to him.

Pupils plan to change the "theme of display" about every two weeks—and, at present, have many more suggestions for the remainder of the term.

Bristol Borough

Chief Arland Kidder, of the Naval recruiting office, Burlington, N. J., and Sgt. John Gary, of the Marine recruiting office, Philadelphia, addressed about 150 boys of Bristol junior-senior high school at a special meeting in the assembly on Tuesday morning.

They spoke not merely of what is expected in the two branches of the service, but described in some detail what is expected in classification tests; how special schools are chosen for the enlisted man; what the enlisted man can expect in "boot" training; base pay; leaves, etc.

Following the talks by Chief Kidder and Sgt. Gary, the meeting was thrown open to questions in which the Bristol boys participated most readily.

BOY FOR MANZOS

Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Manzo, 1029 Elm street, are parents of a boy born Monday morning in Harriman Hospital. Treated at the hospital during the week-end, were: Saturday evening: Stephen Porto, Tullytown, scratched left foot on nail; Sunday: Joseph Pirano, Philadelphia, lacerated left thumb, cut on bottle, requiring two sutures; Francis Dougherty, 625 Corson street, stepped on a rusty nail; Reginald Stancil, seven, 123 Wood street, injury to back of head sustained in a fall, requiring three sutures; Rita McLaughlin, 677 Garden street, fell from bicycle, injuring right elbow.

all of 3M's major production divisions. The firm manufactures a wide variety of products including coated abrasives, "Scotch" brand tapes and other pressure sensitive adhesives, "Scotchlite" reflective sheeting, electrical and sound recording tapes, chemicals and other products.

The projects mark the latest step in a long-range building program. The company spent $47 million for expansion purposes in the five-year period ending in 1950.

Construction of the projects included in today's announcement is under the direction of C. P. Pesek, vice-president of engineering and properties.

The list includes:
Atlanta, Ga. — Construction of a new sales office and warehouse is scheduled to get under way soon and is expected to be completed by September 1. This two-story reinforced concrete structure will provide 36,000 square feet of floor space.
Bristol, Pa. — Alteration of the present and installation of additional production equipment is now under way and is scheduled for completion by January 1, 1952.

Work has begun on a one-story masonry and steel warehouse containing 120,000 square feet. Completion is expected by October 1.

Buffalo, N. Y. — A one-story steel and masonry structure containing 16,000 square feet is being built and is scheduled for completion October 1. It will be used for offices and warehouse space.

Cleveland, O. — A one-story steel and masonry building is expected to be ready for completion on or about June 1. Work on this 30,000 square foot office and warehouse building has been under way since last fall.

Hutchinson, Minn. — Improved tape storage facilities are now being built into a recently completed warehouse.
Lemont, Ill. — A 4,000 square-foot addition to the present warehouse is expected to be completed late next month.

Wayne, Mich. — Recently purchased buildings containing 60,000 square feet are being altered to accommodate adhesives and coatings operations. A 12,000 square-foot addition is also being constructed. Work on all buildings is due for completion in September.

Boston, Mass. — A one-story steel and masonry office and warehouse building containing 25,000 square feet is now under construction. Completion is expected late this year.

Hastings, Minn. — A pilot plant for the study of synthetic polymers for resins and tape adhesives and a pilot plant for research and production of fluorocarbons are due for completion by late August. Both buildings are of steel and concrete. Together they contain about 10,000 square feet. Construction of additional storage tanks for solvents and other raw materials is due for completion in May. A new 50,000 square-foot warehouse is due for completion early next year.

St. Paul, Minn. — The minerals building, damaged in an explosion Feb. 8th, will be rebuilt and expanded. The restoration and expansion work are scheduled for completion this fall.

All of the new warehouses will be served by truck and railroad docks, Pesek said.

Says Loyalty Bill Tool of Politicians

Federal Constitutions, the bills would not be objectionable.

But they go much further than that. They require a person to swear he is not a subversive person, nor a member of a subversive organization. It is in this clause that these bills are vicious.

The Act now before our State Legislature gives such a sweeping definition to subversive organizations that it would include even a temporary committee whose sole activity might be to advise an amendment to the Constitution of the United States or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In short, if a teacher joins a discussion group, and someone in the group advocates an amendment to either the Constitution of our State or the Nation, the teacher could be labeled a member of a subversive group.

It is not hard to picture the kind of witch hunts to which legislation of this kind can lead.

Teachers are subject to enough pressures as it is. If they are exposed to this type of inquisition, there is little inducement for anyone to enter the teaching profession.

The authors of this bill seem to be inspired by the same motives one finds in a dictatorship. The first thing a dictator insists upon is absolute conformity, and one of the worst crimes under a dictatorship is any deviation from the party line imposed by the dictators.

The proposed bill poses a serious threat to our basic liberties. And these should not be tampered with at any time or under any pretext. We must bring ourselves to understand that the most effective weapon against Communism is a constructive approach, making our democracy better—not the destructive approach of suppression.

It is, of course, essential to ferret out and exterminate Communist cells and underground saboteurs. That is something the FBI and our State and local police can do very effectively under the present laws. The loyalty oath will be of no help in this.

It will never catch a single Communist, but it can make miserable the lives of thousands of loyal public servants and particularly our teachers.

It is like burning down an entire house to try to kill a few rats.

Gillogly, Mrs. Edward Biester, and Mrs. Edwin L. White, Doylestown; Mrs. Elva Thomas, Langhorne; Mrs. Russell Walter, Mary O'Donnell, Ruth Muggleworth, Phyllis Crawford, Frances Johnson, Carol Benecke, Karen Stehneke, Buckingham.

The opening banquet on Friday evening was planned by the Bucks County Council as their contribution to the conference, and they were happy to present as the main speaker for the occasion, Miss Barbara Wallace, Senior Scout from Philadelphia, who told of her exciting experiences as the United States delegate from Region 3 to the International Encampment held last summer at "Our Chalet" in Switzerland. Mrs. J. H. Lavenstein of Virginia, Chairman of the Regional Committee was present to bring her greetings from the Region. Saturday morning the delegates attended and participated in various discussion groups on many interesting phases of scouting: Nature Out of Doors, Folk Dancing, Dramatics, International Friendship, Work of the Troop Committee, Work of the Board and Senior Scouts. These groups were repeated after the luncheon so that everyone had an opportunity to attend as many of the discussion groups as possible.

The Girl Scouts themselves have also been busy making plans for their own get-together here in Bucks County at their annual Juliette Low festival. According to the report of the Juliette Low Committee at the April Board meeting held recently at the Countryside Inn, Cross Keys, many troops throughout the county are hard at work on the freak shows, target games, wax museums, Punch and Judy shows and other appropriate booths which their youthful imagination visualizes on the Midway to be manned by the girls. The Brownies are industriously working on costumes for a Farm Animal Parade and all scouts seem excited with the anticipation of attending this County Fair to be held May 5 at Deer Park, Lahaska, Pa.

It was announced that the Cookie Sale was most successful this year with a total of 46,096 boxes sold. This is almost twice the number sold last year, and the profits realized will not only send the twelve delegates to Eastern, but balance the minimum budget as well.

Mrs. William Reyer, Chairman, of the Organization Committee, reported that there are 95 troops of 1991 girls and 595 adult volunteers, with more troops registering all the time.

Mrs. Reese Thomas, Chairman of Camping, stated that her committee is progressing nicely with its plans to organize and reopen four Day Camps in the county this summer.

The Public Relation Committee, according to Mrs. Harry Feaster, its Chairman, received many compliments upon the fine choral work done by the Newtown Troop No. 62, under the direction of Mrs. Francis Brady for the Birthday Radio Program. Plans are being made to present a monthly Girl Scout Radio Program, the next two, in April and May, will have Camping as the theme. The Committee also expressed its deep appreciation to the Toggery Shop in Newtown, Mr. John Crowley, Realtor in Pennell, and Nangle's Shop in Langhorne for their kind cooperation in permitting the Girl Scouts to use their store windows for Scouting displays.

The Program Evaluation and Survey Committee to study the scouting program in Bucks County is under way and the visitation to the various troops will begin sometime after April 20.

The Training Committee, Mrs. Harry Willis, Chairman, announced that three Courses in Outdoor Activities will be offered starting the week of April 23. One will be given in Andalusia on Tuesday evenings at eight p. m., one in Langhorne on Wednesday mornings at 9:45 a. m., and one in Doylestown on Thursday mornings at 9:45 a. m.

These training courses and conferences not only afford the leaders and volunteer workers an opportunity to acquire more knowledge and confidence but also inspire a deeper appreciation of the meaning of Girl Scouting and its principles of fun, friendship and service to others.

A Prayer That We May Be Kept
St. John 17:12: "While I was with them in the world, I kept them in Thy name: those that Thou gavest me I have kept, and none of them is lost, but the son of perdition; that the scriptures might be fulfilled."

Clubmen's Association To Have Softball League

The Bristol Clubmen's Association will attempt to organize a softball league for its members.

The initial step will be taken Friday evening, when a meeting will be held at the Clinton J. Lewis Lodge at 8 p. m. Member organizations interested in participating in this league are requested to have their representatives present at this important first meeting. Plans for the league charter will be drawn up at this meeting and then referred back to the organizations for their individual approval.

The Bristol Clubmen's Association, having always felt that there was an evident need for some adult recreation on a non-professional basis during the summer months, has decided that a softball league will go a long way toward developing a healthy and wholesome populace in our community. In general, financial commitments will be kept down to supplying the bare essentials of bats, balls, and bases necessary for engaging in the game. Personal satisfaction and enjoyment of playing rather than stiff competition will be a key principle in setting up the league, thus affording young and old alike an opportunity to "play ball."

At the monthly meeting of the Association last Friday evening, six organizations expressed an interest in participating in the league. The Association also extended an invitation to all chartered organizations that may be interested in entering the softball league, an invitation to attend the meeting.
